Ringling's Big Show Will Be Bigger and Better Than Ever.

HERE TWO YEARS AGO

The Menagerie Alone Contains 1,000 Rare Wild Beasts.

Bringing with it all the enchantment of the sawdust and spangles so dear to the hearts of both young and old, Ringling Brothers' Circus will invade Hopkinsville Saturday morning and promises to be the mecca for thousands for one whole joyous day. The big show will come here from Evansville. It will be transported on four trains made up of 89 cars. Unloading will take place in the yards of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Local railway officials figure the first section to arrive at about 4 a. m. and be followed closely by the remaining three trains. As fast as the sections reach town they will be unloaded and their cargos of wonders moved to the show grounds.

This season's is the largest ever traveled by the Ringling Brothers. A great number of cars have been added for the purpose of carrying the vast amount of costumes, scenery and paraphernalia used in the new spectacle "Cinderella." The menagerie has been enlarged and now exhibits 108 dens of wild animals numbering more than 1,000 rare beasts; to say nothing of the 41 elephants, led by "Big Bingo," herd of zebras, camels and ostriches, the giraffe family and the special wheeled home in which reside the jungle "thespians" that take part in the trained animal revue. More than 1,350 people travel with the show.

For the advance information of the small boy and his sister who are as certain to be on hand Saturday morning as the long red and yellow trains themselves, it is officially announced that the first section to reach the railroad yards will be that bearing the commissary department. All the kitchen equipment of the big outfit will be aboard, accompanied by the mysterious, closely covered animal cages. The jungle tribe will be allowed an extra hour's beauty sleep, but the host of cooks and waiters will enjoy no such luxury. They will immediately descend upon the show grounds and, after the battalion of working men have placed the dining tents and range wagons, will begin preparing breakfast for the traveling inhabitants of Ringlingville. This gigantic task will have been accomplished by the time the second train reaches town and the various incoming expeditions will find everything to appease their appetites from piping hot coffee to sizzling eggs and sweet smelling bacon.

While some detachments of laborers are at tables others will be busy erecting the magic city, spreading the 28 tents of the moving municipality over acres of ground and building the mammoth stage which will later in the day give play to the gorgeous fairyland spectacle. Long before the trumpets call for the formation of the street parade all work will have been completed, the 400 arenic performers who are this season traveling on a solid vestibuled train of Pullmans, will have arrived and breakfasted, the tented stables will have housed the 735 horses of the circus and the big show will be entirely ready to receive its hosts of patrons.

With the street parade will come the first "official" appearance of the circus. The pageant promises to be the finest ever seen in this city. It will be fully three miles long, contain many bands, two calliopes, scores of open dens and such novelties as a corps of musicians mounted on prancing horses, zebra teams and sixteen camels hitched to a mammoth float and driven like horses. Most of the elephants will be in line and every nation will be represented among the hundreds of participants whose costumes are said to be the most elaborate ever seen on parade.

The circus performances will begin at 2 and 8 p. m., but the doors will open an hour earlier that patrons may have ample time to review the big zoo with its special section of baby animals. The main tent program will open with "Cinderella." More than 1,000 characters will appear in the gigantic pantomime which tells the story of childhood's best-loved nursery tale. This fairyland spectacle is the most elaborate production ever presented in America. It pictures the streets of the elfish kingdom, the home of Cinderella, the palace of the king, the grand ball room in which the fairy favored heroine loses her slipper on the staircase, and depicts the great processions in which the hosts of the land of make believe journey to the royal palace to contest for the hand of the handsome prince. Of course Cinderella triumphs, just as she does in the story books and accompanied by her fairy godmother, the gnomes and pumpkin coach goes to live in the palace. A fairy band of 300 dancing girls are but a single feature of the great production. The costuming, scenic, transformation and electrical effects are said to be the most remarkable ever presented in connection with a spectacle.

Following the wedding of Cinderella and the prince will come two hours of circus displays. These will include the daring of more than 400 arenic performers, many troupes of trained animals embracing bears, monkeys, dogs and more ferocious subjects, herds of elephants in new tricks. The performers will include a company of 30 Chinese champions; Mlle. Letzel, the world's smallest and foremost gymnast; Antonio Zingaro and his tribe of reckless gypsy riders; old Si Green and his cousins, aunts and favorite dogs and horses out for a holiday; wonderful statue dogs and horses in posing acts, scores of acrobats and 60 clowns.

INSPECT DIXIE BEE LINE IN NOVEMBER

Mayor Bosse to Head Touring Party For Southern Section of Highway.

Headed by Mayor Bosse, president of the Dixie Bee Line association, a party of thirty is expected to leave Evansville on Nov. 14 on a tour of inspection over the Dixie Bee Line south of the river. J. C. Keller, secretary of the association, is arranging for the trip.

The inspection will start at Hopkinsville. The party will go from Hopkinsville to Guthrie, where a meeting will be held and dinner taken. Delegates from Robertson county, Tenn., have been requested to attend the meeting at Guthrie, since it is not convenient for the party to go further south.

The second meeting is scheduled for Trenton at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The party will return to Hopkinsville for the night. The principal meeting of the tour will be held at Hopkinsville, at which the road markers will be decided upon. President Bosse has requested that every county vice-president or an accredited representative be present at this meeting.

On the morning of Nov. 15 the inspection party will leave Hopkinsville for Madisonville via Crofton, Mannington, Nortonville, Mortons Gap and Earlington.

At Madisonville the meeting for Hopkins county will be held and the night spent. On the morning of Nov. 16 the party will go to Dixon where the Webster county meeting will be held. After the Dixon meeting the party will leave for Henderson, where the tour will end.

President Bosse requests that the meetings at Madisonville and Dixon be largely attended, because the chief business will be to arrange for bond issues for this fall and winter.

WILSON POINTERS FOR BUSINESS.

"The purpose of legislation in the immediate future in this country is going to be to remove all ingenious constructions and make it a perfectly clear what the liberties as well as what the restrictions of trade are in this country."

"My dream is that she (America) will take her place in the great field in a new spirit which the world has never seen before; Not in the spirit of those who would exclude others but in the spirit of those who would excel others."

"One of my chief objects has been to see that nothing was done to interfere with the friendly relations between the United States and Latin America."

"There is only one thing I have ever been ashamed of in America and that is its timidity in the face of foreign competition. I know that American business men have enough brains to compete with anybody. We have swung out into a new business era. Now our trade has extended to the whole world."

"I despise monopoly and have an enthusiasm for co-operation."

"Previous tariff laws have been founded on theories. I look for the facts no matter whom it hurts." (Speaking of an investigation by the tariff commission.)

The High School department has eighteen pupils and the first three years are represented. The three who left us for the Hopkinsville High School are making good in the senior work. There has been added to the course this year book-keeping and typewriting. The latter is a new department in rural school work and it is merely a trial.

O. M. Wilson spent Monday in Hopkinsville on business.

Ruth's a Corker.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 26.—Miss Ruth Corker, 15 years old, of Ornewood Park, a suburb of Atlanta, is the only girl veterinary surgeon in the world.

Treating mules for lockjaw or sewing up great cuts in horses' legs is child's play for this girl, who learned her profession through her father and grandfather, both of whom are veterinary surgeons. She has a large number of animals.

"It takes a barrel of chloroform to put a mule to sleep," said Miss Corker, "so I rope them down, inject cocaine locally, and operate."

Miss Corker is a pretty little girl, with dark brown hair and hazel eyes. She wanted to do "something different" from other girls, she said, and so she took up the profession followed by her paternal ancestors.

TO COMPLAIN AGAINST TANKS

Will Contend They Are Contrary to Recognized Methods of Warfare.

London, Sept. 26.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Geneva says it is understood there that the German Government proposes to lodge a complaint with the International Red Cross against the use of the so-called "tanks." The complaint will be on the ground that the use of these new engines of war is contrary to recognized methods of civilized warfare.

Eastern Star Chapter.

Great preparations have begun in Dawson for the entertainment of the grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, which will meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 10, 11 and 12. Committees have been selected and instructed to begin preparations.
